

Red Sails in the Sunset

Composed by Hugh Williams with words written by Jimmy Kennedy, this song became one of the most popular tunes on the American radio show Your Hit Parade between 1935 and 1940.

Red sails in the sunset,
Way out on the sea.
Oh! carry my loved one,
Home safely to me.

He sailed at the dawning,
All day I've been blue.
Red sails in the sunset,
I'm trusting in you.

Swift wings you must borrow,
Make straight for the shore.
We marry tomorrow,
And he goes sailing no more.

Red sails in the sunset,
Way out on the sea.
Oh! carry my loved one,
Home safely to me.
